

Rhetoric

July 28/29, 2016 at KIT

At university, during congresses and in companies it's mostly the professional competence that counts. But more often rhetorical skills convince.

A successful speech with well used media, a fascinating way of talking and a present body language leads to a motivated audience and a high quantity of provided input.

During the workshop „Rhetoric“ we'll have a look at different ways of articulation, body language signs and the common rules of presentation. Movements on the stage, voice variation and gesticulation will be practiced and improved.

Theoretical inputs are combined with exercises and a video analysis.

Please be prepared with an usb stick and a professional talk about one of your research topics, duration 7-10min.
